

The extended cavity diode laser concept was developed by the group of Prof. Hänsch in the early 1990s for optical cooling and trapping [1, 2]. It was improved by Hildebrandt et al. by choosing anti-reflective

to

